Leadership Lessons

The 63rd Republic Day of India is an important milestone not only for the nation but also for VIDYA students.

Every year on this day besides dancing and singing patriotic songs, a head boy and a head girl are duly elected in the school. This is an activity to teach the children that India has strong democratic roots and VIDYA too believes in electing its leaders. The elected leaders then select a council of students to run the school on the sacred national principles of Justice, Liberty, Equality and Fraternity.

Congratulations young leaders!
